

* Refreshments ▲

Since Las Vegas is essentially in the middle of a desert, it's important to keep cool. Fortunately, the casino is air conditioned, but if that's not enough, the bar offers over twenty varieties of frosty refreshments. Why don't you take a look at their offerings?

[Note: this puzzle will require location-specific information, which may be subject to change. If you know what information you are looking for, you might be able to request a printed copy from a nearby BAPHL representative, but where's the fun in that?]

Beer	Beer	Beer
Johnny Quest Thinks We're Sellouts	Georgia Belgique	Third Coast Old Ale
Old Viscosity	Little Rooster	No, You're a Dort!
Stars and Stripes	Gooseberry	Pliny the Elder
Autumn Blaze Fall Ale	Mean Old Tom	Regal Lager
Silk Porter	Boston Common	Non-Alcoholic
Young's Old Nick	Nirvana Nut Brown Ale	Arnold Palmer
Twelve Gauge Imperial Stout	Old Ruffian Barley Wine	Old Town Root Beer
Maharaja	Evergreen Ale

1. One offering contains a palindromic substring that is exactly five letters long. Take the central letter of that palindromic substring.
2. One offering contains the name of an animal in the Chinese zodiac. Take the third letter of that animal.
3. One offering contains a written-out cardinal number. Take the first letter of that number.
4. One offering contains the name of a US state. Take the third letter of that state.
5. There is one letter that appears exactly once among all the names of the offerings. Take the first letter of the word containing that letter.
6. One offering is named after a real, deceased individual. Take the letter which appears most frequently in the name of that offering.
7. Two consecutive offerings on the menu each contain the name of a band; the first band is strongly associated with New England and the second band is in the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. Take the letter which is common to both bands' names.
8. One offering is named after a real, living individual. Take the first letter of the first name of that individual.
9. One offering ends in an exclamation mark. Take the first letter of that offering.
10. Take the third letter of the word that appears most frequently in the offerings' names (as a complete word, not a substring).
11. One offering is named after a wholly fictional television character. Take the first letter of the character's first name.
12. One offering contains the name of a fabric. Take the next-to-last letter of the offering.
13. One offering has every letter in its name appearing exactly twice. Take the last letter of the offering.
14. One offering consists entirely of alternating consonants and vowels. Take the third consonant in the offering's name.
15. One offering is a single word containing two doubled letters. Take the last letter of the offering.
16. One offering has a conjunction in its name, and its first and last letters are the same. Take the first (or last) letter of the offering.

