

HURLING BRICKS!

Doesn't Ignatz only throw bricks at Krazy? Well, he just received some upsetting news, so now this mouse is taking his aggressions out on windows. Perhaps this list of things that drive him nuts will help you figure out what he was told. (6 2 6 2 4)

He takes antacid tablets for his heartburn but they always make him feel worse!

He detests that Cambodian complex with all the temples!

He believes Indiana Jones could have found a more important Biblical relic!

He doesn't like 1900s novels about titular horses!

He abhors both Truman Capote and Audrey Hepburn!

He also can't stand any superhero delineator like Jack Kirby, Steve Ditko, or Frank Miller!

He gets horrified by any weird-looking aquatic mammal like Phineas and Ferb's pet Perry!

He loathes getting ripped off in fairy tale trading!

He keeps getting rudely interrupted at the VMAs by that egotistical jerk!

He regrets going around and around in that video game accumulating everything he comes across!

He hates that online company where his project failed to meet its funding goal before the deadline!

He despises that location in London all the Harry Potter fans flock to!

He has an allergic reaction to the less-expensive type of cacao used in Easter and Halloween candy!

He hates the imaginary, colorful animals from that drunken dream sequence in Dumbo!

He gets jealous of other mice who are a lot dumber or a lot smarter than he is who try to take over the world!

He wishes Minnie Mouse would wear a different dress fabric pattern sometime!

He hates that 1980s singer he keeps getting punked by with misdirected web links!

He grows tired of that poetic form that compares him to a summer's day!

He pays more in fees to see Pearl Jam than he does just to buy his seat!

He thinks James Bond's signature cocktail is just way too strong!