

FROM THE DESK OF MYSTIK SPIRAL

Dear Fellow Rockers -

Trent from Mystik Spiral here. So it's about time we told you... Anthony thinks he's the brains behind our act, but really he couldn't songwrite his way out of a paper bag. (Seriously. We put a bag on his head once and it was still there a week later.) In fact, he tried to write you some second lines to go with the first lines you've been finishing up all day. We feel like he was on the right track with each of them, but frankly, something's a little... off.

On the other hand, if there's one thing Anthony knows, it's how to assemble a setlist. These lines may need some work, but the songs they're supposed to go into will probably make a great nine-song set.

However, if you're going to win the Baphl of the Bands, you're also going to need an encore... one great cover song to wrap things up with. I think the answers you found when solving today probably hold the key. Take a good hard look at the setlist, up and down, from beginning to end, and hopefully you can figure out how to finish the set.

Once you have your ordered list of ten songs (nine originals and a cover), write it on the attached sheet, check in with the venue manager at the Middle East, and you'll be ready to rock!

6. To be with you I'd gladly cross the sea
7. Come home with me, we'll cuddle and watch Letterman
