

DINING WITH DISASTER

When Mystik Spiral are out on tour, they face the constant quandary of how to eat well on the road. Good nutrition is generally overlooked; the real issue is that Jesse only likes eating pizza, and Max only likes submarine sandwiches, which means that for every meal (lunch and dinner, because what kind of self-respecting rocker is up in time for breakfast?), the band has two options to pick from.

Use the facts below to figure out what they ate during their last 10-day tour. You can use the chart at the bottom of the page to help record your answers; for maximum fun, we recommend drawing cute pictures like the ones provided on the right.

1. There were six meals where the band ate nothing to save money for beer. These meals occurred on five different days; no two of these days were consecutive. For every other meal, the band had either pizza or subs.
2. After the next-to-last time the band had subs, they had pizza for their next two meals.
3. At one point during the first half of the tour, the band had pizza for both meals of two consecutive days. This was referred to as “the incident” and regarded as a terrible mistake, so they skipped lunch the next day, and they never had the same food more than once a day for the rest of the tour.
4. The second time during the tour that the band ate subs was for dinner on Day 5, after a tasty pizza lunch earlier that day.
5. The band had the same number of pizza lunches as pizza dinners, but they had more sub lunches than they had sub dinners.
6. One night of the tour, the band had some really mediocre pizza for dinner, so Max insisted on getting subs for lunch the next day.
7. On the last three days of the tour, the band had lunch each day, alternating back and forth between pizza and subs (starting with one or the other).
