

Mothership Blueprints

The mothership hovers ominously over Harvard Square. Our spy teams have charted out the important rooms and chambers within the massive structure, and have even translated their names from Fuzzkinese. Using their info, you'll need to find the weak point of the mothership and what to do to exploit it. Call us at HQ to let us know if you've figured it out.

The spies suggest that there are things that match up. Line them up in the correct way. Then, look for things that are the same, and things that are at the beginnings.
