

HAPPY... ARBOR DAY?

Okay, fine, now you know the REAL reason we postponed the hunt from late December. In our defense, we'd like to point out that it was kind of hard to keep a grip on it, because it's not a sphere but a rhombic dodecahedron. Anyway, could you please put it back together, trace out a path (described by an item you have received) that visits every face twice, and figure out why we decided this was the perfect time to run the postponed hunt?
